Set in an elevated position in the hills above Loulé, this distinctive villa is set on a generous plot of over 3,000 m² and offers wide-ranging views across the surrounding countryside, the historic town of Loulé and the sea beyond. With a total built area of 370 m², the property stands out for its natural stone construction, artistic detailing and romantic architectural features, combining rustic elegance with a strong sense of individuality. The interior is arranged to provide well-defined yet flowing living spaces, ideal for both everyday living and entertaining. A large rustic-style kitchen inspired by Italian country homes features handcrafted cabinetry, an open fireplace and direct access to a covered terrace with open views. This connects seamlessly to spacious living and dining areas, complemented by a dedicated games area, creating a warm and welcoming atmosphere throughout. The private accommodation includes four large en-suite bedrooms, along with an additional versatile room, ideal as a fifth bedroom, studio or home office. Outside, landscaped terraces, patios and fountains frame ...
