Land for construction house T1 with Traditional Design in Ereira – Ideal for Living or Investing

Land for construction of a single storey townhouse in Ereira – Compact, Functional and with Traditional Design!!

We present a plot of land for a single storey townhouse construction project, located in Ereira, in the municipality of Montemor-o-Velho – a quiet and growing locality, located between Coimbra and Figueira da Foz, with good access to the A14 and excellent quality of life.

This property has the possibility of combining the simplicity of traditional Portuguese architecture with a functional and efficient approach, being a perfect solution for own housing, rural tourism or low-risk investment.

According to your taste and needs, you can build a house of typology: T1 or T1+1, ground floor or ground floor and 1st floor depending on the project presented to the City Council.
