INDULGENT VILLA WITH GOLF & SEA VIEWS

Set within beautifully landscaped gardens, with open views across the golf course, this exceptional villa offers a rare sense of calm and privacy while remaining fully connected to the lifestyle of Quinta do Lago.

From the moment you step inside, a skylight above the entrance hall draws natural, bright light down through the space, creating a welcoming sense of arrival and quietly setting the tone for the home.

The layout is generous and considered, designed to feel open without ever losing definition. Four well proportioned bedroom suites provide comfort and privacy, while the principal suite stands apart with dual dressing areas and two bathrooms, it’s a space that feels both indulgent and entirely its own. An additional ensuite office offers flexibility, easily adapting as a fifth bedroom if required.

At the centre of the home, the kitchen is deliberately understated sleek, functional, and designed around how people actually live and entertain. A separate chef’s kitchen sits discreetly located to the side, allowing everything to run seamlessly in the background when hosting.

The living spaces flow naturally outward, opening onto expansive terraces and into the garden beyond. Here, the pool sits framed by landscaped and mature planting, while a covered dining and BBQ area creates a setting that works just as well for long summer evenings as it does for quieter, year-round living.

The lower level introduces a more relaxed rhythm to the home. A comfortable lounge with bar, a wine room designed to be experienced rather than displayed, and a fully equipped cinema create spaces to unwind. Alongside this, a dedicated wellness area with treatment rooms, sauna, and salon, adds a more considered layer of day-to-day living.

Above it all, the rooftop terrace offers a quieter perspective, with soft sea views in the distance, a place to step away and reset.

Practicality has not been overlooked. A lift connects all levels, complemented by a large utility room, a double garage, and additional outdoor parking.

What defines this home is its sense of completeness. Every element has been carefully resolve, not just to impress, but to work. The result is a residence that feels balanced, intuitive and easy to live in, whether as a full-time home or a refined escape.
