Did you know:
Escaroupim is a typical fishing village, formed in the mid-30's by fishermen from Praia da Vieira (Marinha Grande), who seasonally came to the Tagus to do the winter fishing campaigns, especially the shad, looking for the sustenance of their numerous families in the Tagus, in a Tagus rich in fish, returning to Praia da Vieira in the summer. Many of these fishermen stayed on the banks of the river, no longer going to their Praia da Vieira, and thus formed small fishing villages. In these villages, the houses are made of wood, painted in bright colors and built on stakes, in order to be protected from frequent floods.
The peculiarity of the two houses extends to their fishing boats, also made of wood and painted in bright colors.
In the avian village of Escaroupim you can visit the Escaroupim Museum and the River and the Museological Nucleus of the Typical Avieira House and enjoy boat trips on the Tagus River with the tour operators operating on site, bird watching, picnic park, panoramic restaurant and natural viewpoint over the Tagus River.
