Country retreat with two properties and large

1 690 000 €

High above the coast, in the forested Serra de Monchique mountain range, this idyllic property has carved a spot in harmony with nature.

A great deal of thought and a lot of effort has gone in to create a well constructed home to suit the needs of a modern family with room for relatives or friends in the second house. Alternatively, it could be a small business with the opportunity to rent out the large or small house for the summer months. Undoubtedly, it would appeal to those wishing to host small groups for special interest holidays in this increasingly popular area. There are fantastic hiking trails in the area including "Devils Gorge" / Barranco do Demo with it's newly erected suspension bridge which provides excellent views of the surrounding countryside of the upper Algarve.

The large house consists of 5 bedrooms with 4 of them being suites, and one currently being used as an office. Three of the bedrooms are on the upper level all with superb views. One of the bedrooms on the ground floor has a bathroom suite
